

Yuji Koyama

Japan Airlines Co., Ltd.

Executive Officer

Senior Vice President in Corporate Strategy and Planning

Koyama joined Japan Airlines in 1992, upon graduating from Waseda University in Japan, and through his career, he has mainly been involved in international flight sales and route planning.

In 2008, he was assigned as a manager of the International Sales Department and became a director of the Corporate Planning Department where he took the lead of international route planning from 2009.

In 2017, Koyama was appointed as a Senior Director in European Sales Promotion and moved to Japan Airlines' regional branch in London. After spending two years in the UK, he returned to Japan and worked as Vice President of the Global Sales Department.

In 2021, Koyama served as Vice President of the Corporate Strategy Department where he helped lead the formulation of Corporate Management Strategy and overcame hardships in the COVID-19 pandemic, cooperating with relevant parties such as governments and aviation industry associations in Japan.

Since 2023, Koyama has also been responsible for Facility Planning and Communication with airport building companies.

In 2024, Koyama became Executive Officer, Senior Vice President of Corporate Strategy and Planning. He is currently responsible for creating the JAL Group Management Plan and leading relationships with governments and various stakeholders.